BEN. FRANKLIN'S GAZETTE.

What Was Read Through the Spectacles of Our Great-Grandfathers—Philadelphia's First Paper.

(Philadelphia Times.)

The Pennsylvania Gazette was "printed by B. Franklin, Postmaster, at the New Printing-Office, near the Market," and the issue of the date mentioned was "Numb. 962." From an original copy, now before the writer, of May 21, 1747, it is seen that the first and second pages were devoted to European news, with a few American items, and that the third and fourth pages were set apart for the use of advertisers.

The first item, dated "Hague March 7" tells of a "melancholy inundation" whereby Utrecht and Leyden suffered severely. Following is a bit of news from Liege, around which Imperial troops were marching; just below is a Parma item about fifty pieces of cannon to be used in the siege of Genoa, and further down the column appears the intelligence that France had spent 189 millions of livres in the cruel war with England. "An extract of a Letter from a very authentic Person at Stockholm, dated March 12" gives particulars to the effect that "the Empress of Russia will, before the End of June, have above 400,000 Men on Foot." Then, as if Roman types were unequal to the proper telling of actual battle news, there comes in italics the following paragraph:

Genoa, March 4. Skirmishing has within a day or two begun again. One of the Austrian detachments has attempted to surprize, in a post near Voltri, the independent company of Barbaroffa, but that company defended itself with so much bravery, that the enemy were obliged to retire with the loss of several killed and wounded, their Commander being of the number of the latter.

From London are accounts of many disasters to shipping at the hands of the enemy and of pirates as well, and on the second page are found budgets from Boston and New York. In the Boston News is the following:

By a Letter from the Coast of Guinea (dated the 14th of January last, by the Way of Barbados, we have Advice, that Capt. Bear of Rhode Island, being off Cape Coast Castle with a Number of Slaves and a considerable Quantity of Gold Dust on board, the Negroes rose upon the Crew, and killed the Master and all the Men, except the two Mates who jumped over-board, and, by swimming, saved their Lives.

Before quitting the news for the advertisements poor Richard tells his readers the names of the vessels that had "Entered Inwards" at the "Custon House," and immediately below is a list of the vessels that had "Entered Outwards."

The many editors of this day who so conduct their papers that the advertisement are more interesting than the news and miscellany may be gratified to learn that the pioneer of journalism gave them an illustrious precedent in the matter. Whatever the Philadelphia reader of 1747 may have thought of it, the Philadelphia reader of 1881 finds the advertisements in the Gazette much more entertaining than the correspondence. A fair specimen of the former is appended:

PHILADELPHIA May 21, 1747.
RUN way about three weeks ago, from the snow Bonetta-packet, Charles Lyon, master, a failor, named William Crofs, an Irishman, and has a good deal of the brogue on his tongue, about 35 years of age, about 5 foot and a half high, a well-set fellow, and much pocketed: Had on when he went away, an old hat, a linnen cap, blue jacket, and a white flannel one under it, trowsers, good yarn stockings, and old shoes. Whoever takes up said Crofs, and secures him, so as he may be had again, shall have Forty-shillings reward, paid by SAMUEL POWELL, junior.

N. B. He had a month's pay from owners of said vessel, and is supposed to be lurking about town.

NUTMEGS AND RATTLE PICTURES.

Smith and James must have been among the leading mercantile houses then for they required a half-column to tell of oznabrigs, 7-eight garlix, hollands, cambricks, nutmegs, sets of flowers and butterflies, brass ink-pots, allom, snuff-boxes, representations of the battle of Calloden, frying pans and other articles "too numerous to mention," that were "Just imported from London, in the ship Bolton, Edward Dowers, commander, And to be sold for Ready Money, at their store on Itrael Pemberton's Wharf." Thomas Cadwallader gives notice that "all who have any demands upon the estate of Martha Cadwallader are defired to bring in their accounts to Samuel Morris, tanner, at the lower end of Second-street." In those days the reader learned of robberies from the advertising columns, as witness the following:

Philadelphia, May 21, 1747.
Whereas, on the 21st day of April last, some person or persons entered the house of Timothy Scarth, of the Northern Liberties of the city of Philadelphia, broke open his store, and stole the following goods, viz.: A gold necklace and locket, and a gold locket, and a pair of gold buttons, six silver teaspoons, and two large silver spoons, a bed quilt, and some bed linnen, a set of fine bugabag napkins, and sundry other things, to the value of 40 Pounds, or upwards. If the person in whose possession the above mentioned goods are will return the same to said Timothy Scarth in eight days from the date hereof, there shall be no questions asked concerning the same, or if any person will inform said Timothy Scarth where said goods are, he shall receive Five Pounds reward, paid by TIMOTHY SCARTH.

When the foreman of the Gazette office came to make up the paper for that issue he found he had five inches left, and as if to fill out he bade good-bye as follows:

VERY good LAMP-BLACK made and fold by the Printer hereof.

Taking Liberties With Names.

If the bearers of a name choose to give it an eccentric pronunciation, they have a right to do so, but they cannot complain if it is mispronounced by strangers. Thus the Virginia Taliaferros and the Kentucky Vallandighams call themselves respectively the Tollivers and Flanagan, but no uninstructed person would ever think of following their example. The queerest case of the kind is that of the Enroughty family of Virginia, whose name is pronounced Darby. This has long remained a mystery, but a correspondent of the Boston Transcript offers a probable explanation in the fact that some families named Enright and Enraght emigrated from Ireland to this country several generations ago. They belonged to the much ridiculed sect of the Darbyites, and people often hallooed after them, "Go along, you old Darby." It seems quite likely that the nickname became confounded with the somewhat modified proper name. If this is not a solution of the mystery, it will be difficult to find another.—Cincinnati Gazette.

MISS CARPENTER was a teacher in a school, and John Davis was her "worst boy." One day she said to him: "Davis, if you do not behave yourself, I will box your ears!" "You're a carpenter," said Davis, saucily, "and you mis hammer me, but it's plain you coul box my ears!" She did box his though!

The Mirage.

Swedenborg saw in a vision a great fire in Stockholm a hundred miles distant, and a Georgia farmer the other day, professes to have seen a mirage of a fire in Atlanta upon the clouds. He was astonished at a bright red glare that seemed to shine out and light up everything around, and, on looking up, he saw a terrible sight in the sky—a large red spot, in the middle of which he saw buildings on fire and men rushing to and fro. He says he plainly saw streets crossing each other and railroads and trains of cars, but all appeared upside down.

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce JAMES P. HARBESON, of Fleming county, as a candidate for Congress, subject to the action of the Democracy in convention assembled.

We are authorized to announce Col. J. SMITH HURT, of Bath County, as a candidate for Congress in the 9th Congressional District at the next November election. Subject to the action of the democratic party.

The bill giving Mrs. Garfield $50,000 as the salary of her deceased husband, was passed by the House of Representatives without a dissenting vote.

In the House of Commons, Saturday, Mr. Chamberlain, President of the Board of Trade, confirmed the rumor that John Bright has resigned the Chancellorship of the Duchy of Lancaster.

The net receipts for the postal service for the last quarter above all expenditures amounted to more than $600,000. From this it appears a reduction in the postal rates could be made without inconvenience to the government.

The Senate passed the Pension Appropriation Bill on Saturday, while the House non-concurred in the Senate amendments to the River and Harbor Bill. They then killed the Hennepin Canal and Chesapeake and Delaware Canal surveys.

The senate amendment to the general deficiency bill creating a board of audit to pass on claims on account of President Garfield's illness, death and burial and appropriating $35,000 for medical services was non-concurred in by the house after a long debate.

The bill to secure safe and easier navigation on the great rivers, by requiring bridge companies to so construct piers as to guide steamboats in the channels, was favorably reported in the House on Saturday. An attempt will be made to put it through the House this session.

THERE is no finer race for fusing with alien populations than the Celtic. In a few generations the Irish race in this county as a distinct element will have ceased to exist. The splendid old Irish names will survive; the results of their patient industry will remain in varied forms of accumulated wealth; the traditions of their unswerving fidelity to the fortunes of the democracy will still be told;—but, as a race, they will be thoroughly inter-fused with the native population, and the Fitzgeralds of the future, not less than the Kirks, will be "native here and to the manner born."

The Pension appropriation Bill as it passed the Senate, makes no change in the amount appropriated by the House, which remains at $100,000,000. No amendments except those recommended by the Senate Committee on Appropriations were adopted. Outside of mere verbal changes in the amendments to authorize surgeons to make such examination of pensioners and applicants as he shall require, and to organize Boards of Surgeons to consist of three members each, at such points in each State as he shall deem necessary to conduct such examinations, subject to the revision of a special Board of three surgeons, to be appointed when the exigencies of the service require it. The fee for such examinations shall be $2 for each member of the Board.

A Brilliant Policy.

The radicals have been making their boasts for years that ultimately they would capture the disaffected Irish vote; that when the Irish contingent deserted the democratic camp it would go over bodily to the radical party; and in conjunction with a miserable remnant of skulkers, soreheads and half-breed democrats they have been working industriously to this result. But for one unspeakable act of folly the proposed scheme might have proved a success. By a singularly unfortunate piece of strategy, the sachems of the party, in solemn convention, deliberately resolved to appeal to a low and vicious sentiment of hostility to the Irish race; they decided to beat the Irishman on the democratic ticket, and, as if adding insult to injury, placed themselves under the brilliant and distinguished leadership of John Kirk. If there were an Irishman that would hesitate a moment to stand by a man of his own race and faith after such an indignity as this, he himself would become an object of general execration and contempt; and if there were a respectable republican in the county who is engaged in daily and familiar transactions with his friends of the Irish race, he would openly repudiate such a policy and denounce it as revolting to common decency and common sense. The shameless declaration that seven hundred Irish voters representing the best element of the county,—the thrift, the frugality, the manhood, the honesty, the shrewd good sense of Mason county Irish—are to be politically ostracized by the machinations of a mongrel clique, is a proposition that will be rejected by the generous and sensible voters of all parties with indignation and disgust. No party has reached such a depth of degradation as this, and no party could exist in this county through a single canvass that would proclaim as the cardinal doctrine of its creed,—hostility to the Irish on the ground of race and faith.

The True Test.

The Democratic leaders here or elsewhere will never rise to a proper conception of the mission of the Democracy until they realize that there are principles to be established as well as spoils to be secured. Since the days of Thomas Jefferson the Democratic party has claimed to be the special champion of popular rights, and so long as it has recognized the wisdom of the principles and maxims enunciated by that illustrious statesman, it has appealed with irresistible power to the popular heart. In estimating, for example, the pretensions and claims of candidates for public office, Mr. Jefferson imposed no tests whatever, having reference to a man's nativity or religious creed. It is utterly inconceivable, indeed, that Mr. Jefferson could have descended to an inquiry so odious, stupid, and absurd. "Is he an Irishman?" "Is he a German?" "Is he a Catholic?" "Is he a Methodist?" "Is he a Presbyterian?"—these are the inquiries which a mongrel democracy would make the tests of fitness for the discharge of public trusts.

The Jeffersonian test is simply this—"Is he honest? is he competent?"

Apply the test gentlemen voters, and by the Holy Moses, Fitzgerald is the man.

The Government at Washington, through Mr. Geo. Bliss, its agent, has agreed to submit a part of the Salisbury and Parker Star-route cases to arbitration, the arbitrators to be Second Assistant Postmaster General Richard A. Elmer, Mr. Geo. Bliss, or some one named by him, and Mr. Robt. G. Ingersoll, or some one named by him. It is believed that in this way the Government can save about $2,000,000, which it would not otherwise do except by a long course of litigation.

Frederick McDaniel has been convicted of murder at Amherst Court House Va., and sentenced to be hanged.

NEWS BREVITIES.

H. Thane Miller, Jr., is dead.

A strike of the shoe cutters at Cincinnati is again talked of.

Ex-treasurer Heinrich, of Auglaize county, charged with being a defaulter, has been arrested at Laramie City, Wyoming Territory.

The members of the House are anxious to save the River and Harbor Monstrosity. "How, if I should veto it," remarked the President, Saturday.

A number of papers belonging to Chas. J. Guiteau were found in the bundle room of the Palmer House, Chicago, which had been left uncalled for for several years.

John Fowler, a non union workman, shot and fatally wounded a man named Cricklow, near Pittsburg, causing a riot which, it is feared, will end in a lynching.

President Barrios, of the Republic of Guatemala, arrived in New York City from New Orleans on Friday evening. He will proceed to Washington within a few days.

The Governor and judicial chief of a Montenegrin district were beheaded by a party of insurgents, and twenty-five soldiers accompanying the Governor were killed.

The grand jury at Indianapolis has found an indictment for willful murder against William Rankins, who recently shot and killed an employe at the Stock Yards Hotel, named Mosley.

Tritty Thompson and Kitty Hardy quarrelled near Lewistown, N. C. The latter used an axe and the former a huge carving knife, with which she soon hacked the former to pieces.

Robbers entered the house of P. Farcas, at Vicksburg, Miss., on Saturday, and compelled Farcas to give them $700. They then murdered his wife and tied him to the bed post and set the house on fire.

Leadville is in a bad way. Her Mayor and City council were arrested and fined $250 each, and sentenced to ten days in jail for contempt of court. The police judge and city attorney were also removed.

Mrs. Mary Beebe Haskell, the beautiful and accomplished songstress, formerly with the Boston Ideal Opera Company, expects to return to Columbus to live, and will sing in the Presbyterian church choir of that city.

The landing of a large force of troops by the neutral powers, and the prompt action of the English Government in organizing a police force, had a strong tendency to restore order among the ash heaps at Alexandria. The fires, though still burning, are not spreading, and nearly all the looting is reported to have ceased. There was a conference of the Powers at Constantinople, and the terms of the note to be addressed to the Porte, demanding the dispatch of Turkish troops of Egypt, was discussed. The reports of the amount of depredations committed seem to increase daily. Thirteen hundred christian refugees were saved in the Coptic Church during the massacre. Fears are now entertained of a famine or epidemic from the number of unburied dead. Arabi Pasah appropriated £25,000 from the Custom-house before leaving. Advice from Cairo state sanguinary rioting prevails here, despite the endeavors of the authorities to maintain order. The German Consul is preparing to leave with his countrymen.

Mixed Schools.

SPRINGDALE, KY., July 15, 1882.

Editor Bulletin: The universal popular education of the masses of the people should be the chief object of every nation governed by a Democracy, but the manner in which that education shall be distributed to its recipients, the author of this article invites attention. The abolition of African slavery and the consequent passage of the Civil Rights Bill by Congress has ushered in an era claiming our attention in preference to all other political questions of the day, that is the subject of mixed schools. We are opposed to this and hold to the position that there is no logical course of reasoning that will sustain its toleration.

The conscious superiority of the white over the black race would destroy all practical utility of them being educated together. Those Ethiopian sons of toil should be educated separately from the whites and if it is not done the black ensign of negro equality will wave its ignominious banner over the people of Kentucky in all its vaunted glory. The bright star of the Caucasian race will no longer shine in its whiteness but will be dimmed by the dark cloud of the sons of Ham intermarrying with the daughters of the white man. It requires but a short experience in the school-room to acquire a knowledge of the fact, that associations of pupils produce an attachment for each other which lasts during life, that this attachment began in the nursery of life would gradually ripen unto love and intermarriage in adult years. The adherents to this abominable policy are certainly more than blind who fail to see the dire effect of negro equality upon the white race.

We need not travel farther than Mexico or South America to see the evil effects of the mixture of the races. A country noted for its internal dissensions arising doubtless from the conglomerated mixture of races so incapable of self-government. The elegant physical structure of the Caucasians would be in part if not entirely destroyed by its most intimate association with the blacks. The intellectual ability of the Anglo-American would be seriously impaired by its union with the African race which has been left to act in its primitive state of existence showing no signs of progress or improvement during several hundred years thus showing them to be incapable of any high degree of development, we do not believe that any high toned and cultured gentleman desires his children educated in schools where the blacks attend. The more sensible colored men do not desire mixed schools but some of the egotistical fanatics are howling for it. We are informed that it has been decided by the United States Court, that the colored children can attend the public schools if they desire although the teachers and trustees object. Provided, however that the State does not pass a law making mixed schools illegal if such be the case it becomes the people to vote in favor of the proposed amendment to the school law and thus maintain separate schools. The bill provides for they levying of an additional tax of two per cent. on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property. The abolishment of the capitation tax on the colored voters and an equalization of the school funds and the changes of the colored pupilage from six years and sixteen to six and twenty, subject to ratification by a majority of the qualified voters at the ensuing August election.

A HANDSOME gold watch raffled Saturday was won by Mr. W. W. Watkins.

A LARGE lot of expensive machinery is being put up at the Eagle Plow Works this week.

THE camp-meeting at Brittingham's grove, near Manchester, begins on Tuesday August 8th.

MR. G. W. GEISEL has lately added to his collection of prehistoric relics, some very interesting specimens obtained in this county.

A WELL informed Lexington gentleman feels assured from conversations with General John Echols, that the river route in connection with the Chesapeake and Ohio road, passing through this place, will soon be put under contract.

A MOONLIGHT fete, which is designed to be the most enjoyable of the many given this season will take place this evening at the pavilion, corner of Second and Short streets. The Maysville orchestra will furnish the music and there will be a waxed stage provided for dancing. If you wish to pass a pleasant evening you will not fail to attend.

MESSRS. PETTIBONE & Co., on Monday received an order for thirty uniforms for the Emmet Rifles. The coat is to be of dark blue cloth with light blue trimming and the pantaloons of light blue with black stripe down the side. A fatigue cap will be used for the present. These uniforms are to cost $18 each, and will be finished by the 14th of August.

THE sale of the Hill City Turnpike to Jas. C. Owens was confirmed by the circuit court Monday morning. A contract was made the same day with the Bower Bridge Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, for a first class bridge across Limestone creek, to be completed in twenty days. Mr. Owens now proposes at once to put the road in first class condition for travel.

THE managers of the Public Library have decided to adopt the membership plan to obtain money to put the library on a solid footing. The plan adopted will increase the number of books largely and place them at the disposal of the public immediately. The membership fee is only $2. Every citizen of the town and county should contribute that amount without hesitation to assist the enterprise.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. J. B. Kampe and family, of New York, are in the city.

Mrs. John A. Miller, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting her father, Mr. James H. Hall, Sr.

Mr. Brainard Smith, of the firm of Smith & Nixon, Cincinnati, was in Maysville to-day.

Mr. W. Reese Dobyns was here this week, to attend the funeral of Mr. Hamilton Gray, Jr.

Mrs. Lou. Marshall, of Augusta, passed through Maysville Monday, on her way to Esculapia springs.

Mrs. W. O. Dodd and children, of Louisville, are in Maysville, the guests of Mr. Charles B. Pearce.

Mr. E. Lilliard Bramblett, of Nicholasville, Ky., is the guest of the family of Mr. J. W. Peace, of the West-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Anson Maltby, of New York, are visiting the family of Hon. Martin P. Marshall. Mrs. Maltby is the daughter of the late General John C. Breckinridge.

Misses Nettie and Lillie West, daughters of Mr. B. J. West, one of the leading mercantile men of New Orleans, arrived on Sunday evening and are the guests of the family of Mr. James H. Hall, Sr.

THE following are Prof. Vennor's predictions for the remainder of this month: Hot and oppressive weather, with heavy rain and wind-storms, between the 15th and 20th. A great deal of rain and storms so far this month. Between 20th and 23d cooler and windy weather, with continued rains and cool evenings and nights. Between the 24th and 26th there is likely to occur a very hot term. After the 26th or 27th sultry, warm and oppressive weather with thunder storms, up to close of month. There may be indications of a cooler change about the last day of the month—probably, altogether, a muggy and reeking wet month, very different from that of 1871.

THE West Union Defender proposes to erect a monument in memory of Ashael Edgington, who was fired upon and killed by a lot of Shawnee Indians, on the Treber farm near the old Treber tavern, on the Jacktown turnpike, Adams county, Ohio, in December, 1779. The date given above (1779) is a mistake of some fourteen years. Manchester was not settled until the winter 1790-91, and Edgington was not killed until 1793, as may be seen by examination of papers on file in the Mason County Historical Society and by reference to Howe's History of Ohio.

Business Change.

Mr. Holt Richeson and Mr. James Kack have bought the stock of books and stationery of J. E. Blaine & Co., and will continue the business at the present stand. Mr. Kackley will remove his photograph gallery to the second story of the book store. Mr. D. K. Wood has bought Mr. Richeson's interest in the grocery store of Richeson & Bro., and will conduct the business under the firm name of Richeson & Wood.

ANOTHER moonlight dance will be given next Saturday evening by the East End Reed and Cornet Band at the school grounds in East Maysville. The remarkable success that has attended these fetes has prompted the repetition on this occasion, and it is designed to make it a very brilliant affair. There will be a large stage for dancing, refreshments of all kinds and a good string band in attendance. See advertisement.

GERMANTOWN.

How often do parents say my children have to work, and I can only send them to school three, or at most five months in the year. And during the time that they are absent from school they forget a great deal that they learned. One of the disadvantages of free school money, as it is called in this state, is that a great many fathers say I will educate just so far as the state will pay, and thus relying on this money, neglect the proper training of the minds of their children. There is a great difference between the man who has grown old educated and the man old and illiterate—to say nothing of the advantages derived from education during the morning and noon of life. The last days of the scholar. If he has combined with his scientific training the principles of the son of God, are his best days. Upon him the imbecilities of past life are not visited. His is not the decayed mind the sightless eye the bowed form the tottering step or the palsied arm—no he is happy. The air he breathes is balmy—and his horizon is flooded with golden tints, with him the landscape is invested with a softer hue. He touches the hidden springs of thought, and the most beautiful scenes burst upon his enraptured gaze. Old age may come. Its mists may be thrown around him, but the vigor of youth courses freely through his veins. Nature may not perform her work, the blood may lose its youthful warmth and active flow his head may be silvered by the hoar frosts of time, but he walks erect—his eye is still undimmed; his mental horizon is still unclouded. The poet describes him—
As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,
Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm;
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread
Eternal sunshine settles on his head.

In the Southern ocean there is a fowl called albatross; it is always on the wing; it seems to be homeless, free and unweary, careering upon the tempest or sporting gaily in the gentle breeze. Its white plumage is the first to throw back the glories of the morning, and its ever-open eye looks upon the last pale star of night. So with the scholar an unseen hand beckons him away. My motto, he says is "onward, onward forever." He presses on to the unfailing fountain of wisdom. This is happiness indeed; this is what keeps the scholar young.

Homer struck the epoch lyre, the storms of three generations having swept over him. Sophocles in his old age sang his sweetest song. The hopes of Newton when in his youth were almost incredible realities when he gazed upon the heaven, and found "they must move." About the feet of the aged Franklin the lightning played. The glory of this world, if it belongs to any one, belongs to the scholar. His monumental pile rises nearest the heavens and is first gilded by the morning light. The scholar is useful in youth and happy in old age. But how different the man who has grown without this education; his mind is like a barren waste. He misses the true purposes of life, and when he has grown old he has no bright past in which to revel no golden thoughts to dissipate the infirmities of age. His youth cannot be recalled. The mind, like a deserted temple, has lost all of its glory, and the fires of passions have swallowed up the seeds of genius. He is unhappy. The world has no glory for him. Shall the children be educated? Let every parent say yes, regardless of circumstances, I will educate my children. And now

In conclusion will the patrons of our college in Germantown awaken from that indifference into which they have fallen—and say we will have a college this year worthy the name, and one that will enrich the minds of the children of this community. Now AND THEN.

Surveyor Mattingly warned the handsout on the public road Saturday but failed to be with them and the consequence was a failure to perform their work in the proper manner. The turnpike company has made some needed repairs but not enough yet.

Thos. P. Degman is the people's candidate for magistrate in the Orangeburg precinct. Among the numerous candidates Tom will stand a good chance. John Roe is also very popular. Boys, some of you will have to weep a whole flood of tears after the August election.

It is necessary for Sam Hughes and William Hardyman, the ferrymen at this place to purchase new skills if they desire the public patronage or quit the business and sink their old tubs in the middle of the river.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

ELECTRICAL exhibitions are likely to become epidemic. Close upon the Paris Exhibition came a proposition to hold one at the Crystal Palace, London; and a like project is now on foot at St. Petersburg. Americans are singularly backward in organizing such an enterprise.

FREQUENT impurities are found by microscopic investigations to exist in the diamond. Organic matter, carbon and bubbles of gas are common impurities. Quartz, chlorite, pyrite and hematite have recently been discovered in diamonds, and small crystals of topaz have also been seen.

PAUL MARCOY has described a leaf of the giant water lily (Victoria Regia) found in Lake Nuna, Peru, as measuring twenty-four feet nine and a half inches in circumference and weighing between thirteen and fourteen pounds. One of the flowers was four feet two inches in circumference and weighed three and a half pounds. The outer petals were nine inches long.

SOME valuable relics discovered at Ninevah in the form of fine ivory carvings showed signs of crumbling on arriving in England. Concluding that loss of albumen was the cause of the decay, Professor Owen boiled the articles. The experiment proved entirely successful, and the ivory was restored to its original firmness and solidity.

M. GAYON has been studying the phylloxera of the French vineyards with the object of discovering, if possible, some parasitic organism which might be propagated and made to destroy the phylloxera. He has found such organisms, and has striven to cultivate them, but with doubtful results. He is pursuing the investigation further. The ravages of the phylloxera have become a source of great loss to the vine-growers of France, and any researches promising ultimate relief from the pest are eagerly encouraged.

REMARKABLE wind pressures are experienced in India. On October 5, 1864, two passenger trains, one of eight vehicles and the other of twelve, were upset on the Eastern Bengal Railway, all the cars being overturned. Several cars were started from sidings by the force of the wind. On September 21, 1878, a long train was traveling on the same railway at a speed of about eight miles an hour, and was brought to a standstill by a heavy storm and forced back about a mile with full steam and brakes against it. It was found difficult to proceed after detaching half of the train. Instances of this kind are said to be frequent on Indian railways.

THE great red spot on the planet Jupiter still attracts a large share of attention from astronomical observers. This spot is of an elliptical form, with tapering ends, and covers a vast area, being 29,000 miles long and 8,800 broad. This mysterious appearance was first observed more than three years ago, since which time its form seems not to have materially altered, although the ordinary dark bands crossing Jupiter's disc are in a state of constant change. Speculations as to the nature of the red spot have been numerous, but not very satisfactory. The dark lines across the planet are believed to be due to the atmospheric movements, and the suggestion that the red spot is a portion of the body of the planet which has in some unknown way become visible through the atmospheric envelope seems as plausible as any offered.

Composition on an Egg.

In the hen's egg the composition of the albumen (the white of the egg) is: Water, 88 part; pure albumen, 12; mucus, 2.7; and saline matter, 0.3, including soda with traces of sulphur; or, according to Dr. Thomson, water, 80; albumen, 15.5; mucus, 4.5; ash, 0.475. The yolk consists of a variety of constituents: Water, 41.486; a form of albumen called vitelline, 15.76; margarine and olefine, 21.304; cholesterine, 0.438; oleic and myristic acids, 7.226; phosphoglyceric acid, 1.2; muriate of ammonia, 0.034; chlorides of sodium and potassium and sulphate of potassium, 0.277; phosphates of lime and magnesia, 1.022; animal extracts, 0.4; and 0.553 of coloring matter, traces of iron, lacte acid, etc.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects a cure and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan. 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

SPROUTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.
Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. j27d.

BATCHELDER'S

Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensible to Merchants Shippers And Producers.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case without rehandling.
For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.
The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.

Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Filler's complete 65 Cents.
Farmer's No. 1, 15 doz. Case with Filler's complete, 55 Cents.
